

Maine Fun Float

Our first joint MMC/DESMC Fun Float in Scarborough, Maine, was a huge success! The weather was perfect, and the site was excellent.

Tim Logan sent this shot of the beach area:

Alan Beeber brought along a Laser Sailboat he had picked up at the Merrimac Valley club's auction in May. He updated the radio gear, but as he had never owned an RC sailboat before, wasn't sure about the set-up/tuning of the rig. We sorted that out, and he was rewarded with perfect sailing conditions when the afternoon breeze kicked in!

Here's a selection of photos from the day- from both my collection and Tim Logan's.

Returning visitor Alan Owens (Grantham, NH) brought a trio of his terrific scratch-built models.
The 1947 Swedish Light Cruiser Tre Kronor, in 1/96 scale:

Tug Patapsco, 1/48 scale.

Alan Owen's USS CHAWASA (ATF-151), a WW2 Achomawi-class fleet tug:

It was a lovely day for running boats....

Jonathan Eno brought along a couple of fine models. Here he is launching his five-foot-long USCGC Eastwind, a WW2 Icebreaker. Model is scratch built, in 1/48 scale.

Jonathan's USCGC EASTWIND and USS FLETCHER moored in the harbor:

A quintet of fine models from Eric Shade, a member of the Maine club:

I forgot to capture who built this one:
